Wilson's Campaign Manager and Speaker Byrd Talk Over Governor's Chances.

terday from State Senator L. W. Arnett, advising him of the passage of a joint resolution by the General As-sembly of Kentucky, inviting him to make an address before that body. Governor Wilson telegraphed to Sen-ator Arnett yesterday afternoon ac-cepting the invitation and fixing the date for February 9.

The Woodrow Wilson Club, of Staunton, arrived in Richmond yesterday afternoon 269 strong, and paraded through the streets to the Jefferson Hotel, where the club was briefly addressed by its candidate for the presidency, who was deeply touched at the expressions of interest which have come from the city of his birth. All of the members of the club filed by, shaking hands, and many a stop was made for some reminiscence or some question as to old friends. Not long ago Governor Wilson spoke in Staunton, formally opening his campaign for the presidency at that time.

W. F. McCombs, of New York, campaign manager of Governor Wilson, was in conference yesterday with Speaker Richard Evelyn Byrd, of the House of Delegates, in regard to political conditions. Following the conference, although there was no formal anouncement, it was generally understood among the Wilson supporters that Mr. Byrd would manage the Wilson campaign in Virginia.

Governor Wilson was the guest of A. W. Patterson at breakfast yesterday morning shortly after his arrival at the Jefferson Hotel. The affair was informal in its nature, covers being la'd for about twenty-five guests, and was declared to be social rather than political in its significance, though a number of the active leaders in the Woodrow Wilson Club of Richmond were present..

Following his addresses to the two accuses of the Virginia Legislature and his call on Governor Mann at the Executive Mansion, Governor Wilson had lunch with a few friends at the Jefferson. In the afternoon he excused nimself for an hour or two of needed sleep, while members of his party motored about the city to points of special interest, including St. John's Church, Monument Avenue and the Confederate Museum, spending several hours in a general tour of the city.

The object of the inspection of these children is to reveal to their parents the knowledge of any defects that require medical treatment.

Captain R. Contoy Vance, Mrs. Vance, of any defects that require medical trealment.

Captain R. Conroy Vance, Mrs. Vance, their two children and Mrs. Brown, mother of Mrs. Vance, with their maid, have gone to New York, and will sall from there on Saturday for Southern France. They will visit Paris, Algiers, Nice, London and other places. Captain Vance will return in May, but his family will remain abroad until October. Mrs. Haswell Burton, of Stafford county, last year, from one gobbler and three turkey hens, raised a flock of forty-six young turkeys. These were sold before Christmas for $98. It is doubtful of this record of raising so many turkeys from such a small flock could be surpassed in the State.

Richard Evelyn Byrd, special State attorney, prosecuted the case while the defendants were represented by Bloomberg & Husler. An agreed state of facts were presented to the court and the case taken under advisement. In dismissing the case Judge Wells said:

"From a careful inspection of the statutes upon which this prosecution is based, and of the agreed facts in writing, I am of the opinion that the foregoing acts, when construed strictly, as they must be, are not broad enough to reach or apply to cases such as are disclosed by the agreed facts.

"The Legislature, by almost contemporaneous acts, has indicated plainly that it was not its intention to cover eases like the one at bar This case will, therefore, be dismissed, and the clerk will enter the order accordingly."
